Encashing bank guarantees: DoT to seek legal view if payments not made

HEALSO SAID that the government is committed to the sustainability of the sector and is working towards that. Mittal said that the industry is heavily taxed which needs to be looked at, especially since the industry revenue is very low and there's hardly anything left in its kitty. However, he added that he did not propose exactly how much tax rationalisation should take place since such nitty-gritty issues are not discussed at such meetings.

So far out of total dues of ₹1.47 lakh crore, ACR dues, of which ₹1.02 lakh crore is due from three functional companies — Bharti Airtel, Vodafone Idea and Tata Tele-services — and the government has received close to ₹1,000 crore.

Specific to Bharti Airtel, Mittal said that they have already made some payment and will make the balance before March 17, the next date of court hearing, once they complete their self-assessment exercise. The company, which has total dues of ₹5,356 crore according to DoT, has already paid ₹10,000 crore.

Vodafone Idea, which has dues worth ₹5,039 crore, paid ₹2,500 crore on February 16 and another ₹1,000 crore on Thursday. Tata Tele-services, which has dues worth ₹1,3,823 crore, had on Monday made a payment of ₹5,219 crore. Company sources have maintained that this is the amount due from them as per their calculations and they do not have anything more to pay. On this, DoT sources said they will conduct their own flash check before March 17 and issue notices to the company.

India ranked 77th on sustainability, 131st on child flourishing

UNDER THE Sustainability Index, the authors noted that promoting today's national conditions for children to survive and thrive must not come at the cost of eroding future global conditions for children's ability to flourish.

The Sustainability Index ranks countries on excess carbon emissions compared with the 2030 target. This provides a convenient and available proxy for a country's contribution to sustainability in future.

The report noted that under realistic assumptions about possible trajectories towards sustainable green house gas emissions, models predict that global carbon emissions need to be reduced from 39.7 gigatonne to 22.8 gigatonne per year by 2030 to maintain even a 66% chance of keeping global warming below 1.5°C.

It said that the world's survival depended on children being able to flourish, but no country is doing enough to give them a sustainable future.

"No country in the world is currently providing the conditions we need to support every child to grow up and have a healthy future," said the report's lead author, professor of global health and sustainability at University College London, one of the lead authors of the report.

"Especially, they're under immediate threat from climate change and from commercial marketing, which has grown hugely in the past decade," said Costello, former WHO director of mother, child and adolescent health.

Norway leads the table for survival, health, education and nutrition rates, followed by South Korea and the Netherlands. Central African Republic, Chad and Somalia come at the bottom.

However, when taking into account per capita CO2 emissions, these top countries trail behind, with Norway 156th, the Republic of Korea 166th and the Netherlands 160th.

Each of the three emits 210% more CO2 per capita than their 2030 target, the data shows, while the US, Australia, and Saudi Arabia are among the 10 worst emitters. The lowest emitters are Burundi, Chad and Somalia.

According to the report, the only countries on track to beat CO2 emission per capita targets by 2030 while also performing fairly — within the top 70 — on child flourishing measures are Albania, Armenia, Grenada, Jordan, Moldova, Sri Lanka, Tunisia, Uruguay and Vietnam.

"More than 2 billion people live in countries where development is hampered by humanitarian crises, conflicts, and natural disasters, problems increasingly linked with climate change," said Minister Awa Coll-Seck from Senegal, Co-Chair of the commission.

The report also highlights the distinct threat posed to children from harmful marketing. Evidence suggests that children in some countries see as many as 30,000 advertisements on television alone in a single year, while youth exposure to vaping (e-cigarettes) advertisements increased by more than 250% in the US over two years, reaching more than 24 million young people.

Studies in Australia, Canada, Mexico, New Zealand and the US — among many others — have shown that self-regulation has not hampered the industry's ability to advertise to children.

Children's exposure to commercial marketing of junk food and sugary beverages is associated with purchase of unhealthy foods and overweight and obesity, linking predatory marketing to the alarming rise in childhood obesity, it said.

The number of obese children and adolescents increased from 11 million in 1975 to 124 million in 2016 — an 11-fold increase, with dire individual and societal costs, the report said.

To protect children, the authors call for a new global movement driven by and for children.

Specific recommendations include stopping CO2 emissions with the utmost urgency, to ensure children have a future on this planet; placing children and adolescents at the centre of global efforts to achieve sustainable development, the report said.

New policies and investment in all sectors to work towards child health and rights; incorporating children's voices into policy decisions; and tightening national regulation of harmful commercial marketing, supported by a new Optional Protocol to the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, it said.

From the Front Page

At the end, the MPC resolved to keep the repo rate at 5.35%. It held last out the rate at October bi-monthly review (by 25 bps) — and "continue with the accommodative stance as long as it is necessary to revive growth, while ensuring that inflation remains within the target".

In part, governor Shaktikanta Das said at the latest MPC meeting that, considering the overall evolving growth-inflation situation, it would be prudent to continue the focus on growth in the context of the expected moderation in inflation. This would involve being sync with the concept of flexible inflation targeting, he said, and added that financial stability also required revival of the growth trajectory.

"The Union budget has sought to provide counter-cyclical support to the economy, while broadly adhering to fiscal prudence," Das said.

According to the governor, while some green shoots were visible in the economy, their durability would become more clear in the coming months. He said that the rabbi sowing, horticulture production, index of industrial production, and business sentiment of manufacturing firms were starting to look up.

page causing a spike in inflationary pressure, saying the government had largely remained within the deficit road map set by the FRBM Act.

He asserted that credit default was gathering pace and the transmission of the cut in the benchmark lending rate had improved by 20 basis points since the December 2019 monetary policy review to 6.9 basis points.

Involving an escape clause, the Budget for FY21 proposed to inflate fiscal deficit by 50 basis points for this financial year and the next to 3.8% and 3.5% of GDP, respectively, a sharp cut in the corporate tax rates and a shortfall in revenue mop-up following a broader economic slowdown.

The six-member MPC has revised CPI inflation projection to 6.5% for Q4FY20, 5.4-5.5% for H1FY21 and 3.2% to Q3FY21, with risks broadly balanced.
